COMPANY Y

Access Control Policy

Version: 1.0

Company Y requires multi-factor authentication for production accounts.

Access to production systems is approved by the Security Team.

Employees use individual accounts for normal access.

However, the current policy does not define granular role-based access control for every application, does not require hardware MFA for all privileged accounts, and does not define a mandatory US-Person verification process for defense workloads.

Privileged access is reviewed periodically.

Owner: Security Team

Review: Annual